

Humility and Humiliation As Distinctly Divergent and Compelling Concepts

© Reinaldo Rivera, 2009

Abstract presented at the 2009 Workshop on Humiliation and Violent Conflict, Columbia University, New York, December 10-11, 2009

This presentation will explore humility and humiliation as distinctly divergent and compelling concepts.

The articulation will focus upon the lens, and a partial array of the worldviews of the humiliator. The relationship, interplay and consequent impact upon the humiliated will follow.

Perspectives will be offered on aspirations for humility in the contexts of character education, moral values and human dignity.
