

Video message for the Indore World Summit 2018, delivered by Evelin Lindner on 3rd June 2018

Hello, and welcome to this video! My name is Evelin Lindner, and I am here in Central Europe, it is the 3rd June 2018. I am the founding president of a global dignity fellowship, I have two PhDs, one in Medicine and one in Psychology. I live a global life, as a global citizen. I work for a global citizenship of care and responsibility, which means that I work to humanise the globalisation of exploitation that we see today, I work for the common good of all people and resist the current global trend to simply monetise the world's ecological and social resources.

I met you, dear Tejas Kumar Jain, in August 2017, when we had the privilege of your wonderful support for our 29th Dignity conference in Indore, Central India (www.humiliationstudies.org/whoweare/annualmeeting/29.php). Dear Tejas, you are now the Secretary General of the Indore World Summit 2018, and you so very kindly invited me to welcome you all with this video. You, dear Tejas, explained to me that the mUniversity is a youth-based organisation with the declared objective to galvanise young minds to become the world leaders of tomorrow. You shared with me the mUniversity's purpose, namely, to make this world a better place to live in by inculcating in people the necessity to visualise themselves not just as local, but as globally responsible citizens. On the 17th, 18th and 19th of August 2018, the Indore World Summit will take place in Indore, and it will throw light on the growing complexities of this world. This will be the largest conference of central India, with more than 20 associated NGOs who will foster solutions proposed by the delegates in the 14 committees, with one very special committee for the deaf and mute section of society. This will be the first time in the history of the mUniversity where an entire committee will function on sign language.

I am very glad to announce these news to you all that young leaders of today are conducting the Indore World Summit 2018. I very warmly congratulate the organisers and thank all supporters. I invite you all to use this conference to think outside of the box. The world faces unprecedented global challenges, and in this situation, more than ever, we need to listen to physicist Albert Einstein who said: 'We can't solve problems by using the same kind of thinking we used when we created them'. 'No problem can be solved from the same consciousness that created it. We have to learn to see the world anew'. I invite all of you to learn to see the world anew! WELCOME and THANK YOU!
